Washington Bankers Association Welcomes Two New Members to Board of Directors

SEATTLE, Wash. – The Washington Bankers Association (WBA) announced the appointment of two new Board of Directors members: Cameronne Mosher, Washington Market President of First Interstate Bank, and Nicole Sherman, President and CEO of Riverview Bank.

The two banking executives bring decades of combined industry experience, leadership, and a commitment to serving communities throughout Washington state. Their appointments further strengthen the WBA Board's representation of financial institutions across the state.

Cameronne Mosher serves as Washington Market President for First Interstate Bank, overseeing the bank's operations and market strategy throughout the state. Mosher joined First Interstate in 2022 and previously served as Market President in Central Oregon. She brings extensive experience in commercial banking, relationship management, and community engagement. Throughout her career, she has emphasized building strong partnerships with businesses and nonprofit organizations and supporting the economic vitality of the communities her bank serves.

Nicole Sherman has served as President and CEO of Riverview Bank, headquartered in Vancouver, Washington, since July 2024. She brings more than 30 years of banking experience, including executive leadership positions at Columbia Bank, AmericanWest Bank, Numerica Credit Union, and Zions Bank. Sherman has extensive experience in strategic growth, organizational leadership, digital innovation, and mergers and acquisitions. She is also actively involved in industry and community organizations and has served as an instructor at Pacific Coast Banking School.

The WBA Board of Directors provides strategic direction and oversight, guiding the association's advocacy, professional development, and industry initiatives. Board members represent banks of varying sizes and business models throughout Washington, ensuring the association reflects the diverse perspectives of the state's banking industry.
